

LONGWOOD GARDENS

Join us as we travel to the beautiful Longwood Gardens in Pennsylvania. Explore highlights of Longwood's diverse gardens while learning about our history in a 1-hour guided tour designed to tell the story of how one man's vision turned Longwood into the world's premier horticultural display garden.

One of the world's great gardens, Longwood's story is one of legacy, innovation, and stewardship.

The Gardens are a living expression of all that founder, Pierre S. du Pont, found inspiring, meaningful, and beautiful. From the intricate fountain systems to the meticulous gardens to the architectural grandeur, awe-inspiring discoveries await at every turn.

Years before it was a public garden, the land on which Longwood Gardens stands was home to the native Leni Lenape tribe and Quaker farmers. Since then, the land has undergone significant transformation to become the magnificent property that is enjoyed by more than a million guests each year.

The ability to be leaders in public horticulture lies in the deliberate planning and adherence to the principles on which Longwood Gardens was founded.
